Washington Stays Silent On Reparation Break

U.S. HOPES FOR DEBT MEDIATION IN ALLIED ROW

Hughes Plan for the Allied Settlement Seems Only Plan After Split.

NO FURTHER ACTION

Washington Government Can Take no Further Steps in Reparation Fight.

(By the Associated Press)

WASHINGTON, Jan. 5.—The United States government has already done all it can to point out a way to a solution of the reparations crisis, it was stated authoritatively today. Secretary Hughes suggestion contained in his New Haven speech, made in the friendliest spirit, it was said, is before the French government from which any action to take up the financial commission plan must come of necessity.

It was made clear that the Washington government could not issue any invitation for creation of such a commission because the control of the reparations situation is not in American hands but in those of the allies. There is no disposition in Washington, it was said, to seek to force the financial commission or any other plan upon the allies.

An administration spokesman made it plain that the American government could go no further than it has gone in the reparations situation. It was pointed out that the allies, even before the Paris meeting of the premiers assembled, had been fully advised of the American view, and willing to help the medium of Secretary Hughes' speech recently at New Haven.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 5.—The American government, with the break-up of the allied conference of premiers in Paris, appears today to be pinning its hopes for a settlement of the reparations crisis largely on the possible adoption by the allied governments of the plan suggested by Secretary Hughes in his recent New Haven speech.

Put forward as an alternative to attempt forcible collection in Germany should the crisis reach a point regarded as now measurably approached, Mr. Hughes proposal would refer to the reparations question for constructive recommendations, both as to the amount Germany can pay and the method of payment, to an international commission of financial authorities free of political obligations. There has been no word today from any official quarter that further initiative was to be expected at this time from the Washington government.

LONDON, Jan. 5.—The British foreign office this afternoon denied that it had requested the United States to call an international conference on reparations as reported by a Central News correspondent.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 5.—Advices that the American government acting on the request of Great Britain would call an international conference for the consideration of reparations, met with the positive and authoritative statement today of officials of the state department that "there is no truth to it."

Liquor Cases Take Up Most of County Court Session Here

Liquor cases command the peak of attention in county court now in session with Judge Tal Crawford presiding.

Majority of the cases brought for hearing during the regular session county court, now in progress, have been in the form of violation of stringent liquor laws, either manufacturing, transporting or selling intoxicants.

Much progress is being made in the disposition of these cases, although a docket of approximately 230 cases faced County Judge Tal Crawford at the opening of the ten-day court session last Monday.

Frank Curry was acquitted by a jury Friday morning on a charge of transporting whiskey.

Palm Beach Prepares Too Entertain Leeds

William B. Leeds and his bride of a year, Princess Xenia of Greece.

The former Mrs. William B. Leeds, widow of the American tin plate king, now Princess Anastasia of Greece, and her son, William B. Leeds, Jr., are planning to spend the winter season at Palm Beach with their royal consorts and a varied assortment of Greek royalty at present on an extended and vaguely indefinite vacation from Athens. Young Leeds with his bride of a year, Princess Xenia, his mother and her husband, Prince Christopher, are now awaiting the arrival of other members of Greek royalty.

GRAVE MAY BE JEWELRY NEST

Authorities Think the Royal Gems May Be Hidden in Sailor's Grave.

NEW YORK, Jan. 5.—The grave of James Jones, a seaman buried at the National Cemetery in Cypress Hills, Brooklyn, was guarded today by cemetery employees because of a report that William B. Williams, special agent of the treasury department, would seek legal permission to open the coffin to see if any part of the Russian crown jewels had been secreted there.

Anthony Bushman, superintendent of the cemetery at Brooklyn, disclaimed any knowledge of the case. He admitted however that James Jones had been buried in the cemetery September 23, 1920.

"I feel there may be something in the newspaper report," he said, "and hereafter I shall maintain a strict watch of the grave, which is similar in every respect to hundreds of others. I am a pretty good shot and if anyone attempts to interfere with the grave or any other for that matter, will be greeted with a charge of buckshot." The treasury agent got an inkling of alleged smuggling of the jewels in September, 1920. It has been established that the transport which brought Jones' body to New York was searched upon her arrival here, but the jewels were not found. The coffin was kept on board for twenty-three days and as no relatives could be found, it was buried in Cypress Hills.

Bastrop Masked Band Operations Opens in Hearing

(By the Associated Press) BASTROP, La., Jan. 5.—Hearings of charges of masked band depredations in Morhouse parish, laid by Governor John M. Parker at the door of the Ku Klux Klan of the parish, looked to be the climax of more than three months investigation by department of justice agents and state investigators, was formally opened here before Judge Fred L. Odum, of the sixth judicial district shortly after ten o'clock this morning.

Judge Odum immediately summoned the sheriff and instructed him to have all persons entering the court room searched. Immediately afterwards Judge Odum made a statement outlining the purpose of the investigation and the hearing was then adjourned until two o'clock.

VOLUNTEER SERVICE OF NATIONAL GUARDS DENIED

OKLAHOMA CITY, Jan. 5.—After a conference today with Governor J. B. A. Robertson, Adjutant General Charles F. Barrett, announced that there will be no national guard troops on duty here during the inaugural celebration of Governor-elect J. C. Walton. It was decided, the adjutant general said, that the state has no authority to accept the services of volunteers by the guard units at Okmulgee, Elk City, Maud, McAlester, Sulphur and other points.

It has been suggested that a provisional regiment be formed under command of Col. B. F. Markham to co-operate with the local police and it was at first expected that this could be done with the aid of the guard units, which had been authorized to come to the celebration at the personal expense of the individual members.

The decision of the governor, today however, prevents.

(By the Associated Press) OKLAHOMA CITY, Jan. 5.—Two hundred members of the Oklahoma Editors association were in attendance when the mid-winter meeting of the association was convened here today. The meeting is expected to consider matters in general affecting the newspaper business in Oklahoma. It was thought probable that a legislative program would be taken up.

W. D. Little, publisher of the Ada News, was scheduled to make the first address on "cut price competition," and was to be followed by E. A. Gaston, of the Okemah Leader.

The meeting will continue two days.

Administration to Be Viewed on Debt Committee for U. S.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 5.—The senate foreign relations committee today decided to secure the opinion of the administration on the resolution of Senator Johnson, denouncing Arkansas, authorizing the president to appoint official American representatives on the reparations commission before proceeding further with consideration of the measure.

Ada to Turn Musical For Choral Club

Ada will burst out in song tonight.

Over 100 voices will rock the pillars of the First Christian church tonight in the opening practice of the Community Choral club.

The first effort of Ada musical enthusiasts to carry community chorus work out on an extensive scale has been rewarded with the promised attendance of over approximately 100 people.

Edgar M. Cooke, of Oklahoma City arrived today and will take charge of the chorus practice tonight. He will take charge of the weekly meetings of the club on each succeeding Friday night.

Music for the chorus was received Wednesday and plans completed for the first practice. Local sponsors have spent much time and effort in bringing the community chorus to reality. Mrs. Byron Norrell, president of the club, was largely responsible for the club being organized.

Practically every club in the city as well as influential business men have backed the club in its organization.

FOUR DIE WHEN TRAINS CRASH

Misunderstanding of Orders Given as Cause of Fatal Wreck.

(By the Associated Press) LACLEDE, Mo., Jan. 6.—Wrecking crews were busy today clearing the debris resulting from the head-on collision early last night of two Chicago, Burlington and Quincy freight trains between Meadville and Laclede, Mo., in which four trainmen were killed and several injured.

The dead: B. N. Barclay, 60, engineer of train No. 83; B. F. Erdman, 52, engineer of train No. 72; B. W. Birmingham, 30, brakeman on No. 72; N. R. Wilson, 30, fireman on No. 83.

All lived at Brookfield, which is a division point on the railroad. The two conductors, R. D. Cassidy and J. E. Jones, both residents of Brookfield, were in their cabooses at the time and were slightly injured. Clyde Moling, fireman of No. 72 and Ernest Woods, brakeman of No. 72, suffered broken legs.

More than 500 feet of track was torn up and many stock and other freight cars dented.

The cause of the wreck was ascribed by railroad men to a misunderstanding by the crew of No. 83 of the movement of train No. 72, which was divided into three sections. The crew, they said, believed that No. 72 comprised only two sections, both of which had moved from Laclede to Brookfield, clearing the rails.

ASSISTANT PASTOR CHARGED WITH CRIMINAL ASSAULT

(By the Associated Press) ENID, Jan. 5.—William Zeigler, until a few days ago assistant pastor of a local church, was arrested by county officials at five o'clock yesterday afternoon in the study of the church on a charge of criminal assault.

The information was sworn to by E. A. Myers, father of a fifteen year old girl, who claims to have been attacked by Zeigler. Zeigler pleaded not guilty when arraigned before Justice of the peace late yesterday and was released on $5,000 bond.

ADMINISTRATION LISTS TO CLAIM OF ANTI FORCES

Re-assigning of Committees Bring About Harmony in State House.

ANTIS CLAIM POWER

Robertson's Appointments Affirmed in Executive Session.

(By the Associated Press)

OKLAHOMA CITY, Jan. 5.—Both houses of the ninth Oklahoma legislature were in recess today until Monday following a part reconciliation between administration and anti-administration forces in the senate, affected late yesterday in a caucus session when administration supporters promised committee reassignments after a split had developed over the alleged discrimination against opposition of the Farmer-Laborer Reconstruction league, so-called the administration group.

After the declaration by Senator Woods, Purcell, that the Farmer-Labor Reconstruction league would not control the state senate, a test of caucus strength was made, convincing league men, according to their opponents, that twelve senate republican votes would spell an anti-administration majority of eleven votes on any fractional question.

Senator Johnson, Walters, who sounded the first note of discord Wednesday when the committee assignments were made declared that the "democrats who declined to be dictated to by the Walton crowd will win every scrap in the senate."

Administration forces, backing Senator Nichols in an appeal for harmony on the senate floor, branded the threat of coalition with senate republicans as an attempt to disrupt the democratic control of the senate.

The senate late yesterday in executive session confirmed recent appointments made by Governor J. B. A. Robertson, thus completely sweeping control of the important state administration boards out of the hands of Governor-elect J. C. Walton. Roy Wolcott, head of the state banking department, was the only appointee of importance who failed of confirmation. Action was withheld pending determination of the length of time he would serve under the new administration if confirmed.

Only routine affairs occupied the attention of the house yesterday.

AUTO LICENSE SALES SHOW PROGRESS HERE

Sale of automobile license for the year 1921 was started this week and prospects are that the city and county streets and roads are to have more money from this source than ever before. W. D. Kennedy, the only agent here who keeps a bona fide record of the license sale, said today that although the sale of license was starting slowly, he believed it would be only a matter of a few days until it would reach the high mark.

He was formerly deputy sheriff under Bob Duncan at the court house. He is now located, however, in an office at the Ada Auto Top Works at 122 West Twelfth street. Mr. Kennedy is in business there with W. B. Gay. They will not only deal in auto license and information concerning registration of cars, but will later open up an automobile and fire insurance agency. They will also have a collecting agency. Friends are invited to call at the new office. Notary work will be a specialty. Automobile dealers are informed that at the end of this month the time for obtaining new license expires.

Home Building Plan Gets Attention at Regular Meeting of Legion.

The appointment of a committee to probe the inner workings of the Legion Home Building association with prospects of putting that project in effect here for the interest of the ex-service men, who cannot buy their homes otherwise, was the principal topics at the Legion meeting Thursday night.

The establishment of military court within the Legion membership, for the apprehension of all parties who fail to attend regular meetings of the Legion, was brought about with Miller Ligon sitting as high judge in the court.

Legion officers stated Friday that this step was taken to bring out influential members to the Legion meetings and secure their advice and co-operation on matters brought before the Legion for discussion. Commander Reed stated Thursday that every member in the Legion has a part to play in the affairs of the organization and that it is necessary for every member to be present.

Regular meeting dates for the Legion will be on the second and fourth Tuesday of each month with court-martial trials scheduled for open dates. The first court martial trial, however, will be held in connection with the next regular meeting on next Tuesday.

VILLAGE BURNED BY IRATE WHITE DEATH AVENGERS

Negroes Barricade Selves in Shack and Fire on White on Man-Hunt.

MANY ARE INJURED

Negroes Escape Fort When White Attackers Leave for More Ammunition.

(By the Associated Press)

OTTER CREEK, Fla., Jan. 5.—Two white men, one negro woman and a negro man are known to be dead while it is believed that there are many other casualties as a result of a race trouble last night and early today at Rose Wood twelve miles from here.

With the exception of three buildings, the entire village was burned by a mob shortly after day-break, according to available reports here.

A party of citizens from Sumner went to Rose Wood late last night to investigate reports that two negroes sought in connection with an attack upon a white woman at Sumner Monday were concealed in a house there. Upon the approach of the party, the negroes without warning opened fire, killing outright two persons and wounding four, one of them probably fatally.

It was later developed that twenty-one heavily armed negroes were in the house and citizens immediately established a cordon around it and opened fire with every conceivable kind of fire arms.

At four o'clock this morning, according to information here, the ammunition of the attackers had become exhausted and the departure of many for fresh supplies gave the besieged negroes an opportunity to escape. Their departure was discovered at daybreak. The vacated house contained the bodies of two negro women and one negro man who had been killed by bullets which penetrated the walls or entered the place through windows.

Blood stains indicated that several of those who escaped were wounded.

Immediately afterwards, according to word received from the scene, the mob began firing the buildings of the village. Every structure except the grocery store, the residence of the grocer and the residence of another white man were destroyed. While the village was in flames, it is said, members of the mob fired upon the negroes fleeing from their homes. The result was not known here.

The known dead are: Polly Wilkinson of Sumner, 45, a merchant; Henry Andrews, 43, of Otter Creek, superintendent of a lumber company; Sylvester Carrier, 42, negro, Bertha Carrier, negro woman, and the mother of Sylvester.

An unidentified negro woman, apparently about forty years of age was shot and killed later in the morning at Rosewood when the negro houses of the town were set on fire. A church, large building and five or six residences were destroyed.

There have been no further demonstrations on the part of the negroes since last night.

BROMSON, Fla., Jan. 5.—Mingo Williams, a negro aged 50, was found dead on a public highway about a mile north of here shortly after noon today. He had been dead but a short time. Scores of citizens hurried from the town to the scene of the killing.

A CORRECTION

Mayor Fisher states that the News made an error in its story of the settlement of the controversy with Chief Jones of the fire department, which appeared in yesterday's paper. He says that it should have been stated that Smith, the new man over whose appointment the trouble arose, is the one on the payroll of the city and a regular member of the force.

THE EUROPEAN MUDDLE

America should be convinced that the European muddle is not an inviting place for her efforts at mediation.

Europe cannot settle her own affairs in an amicable manner even on affairs that concerns their individual wants. A controversy or world importance could not meet the storm of protest from belligerent diplomats.

The last straw of contention over the reparations question broke in the complete rupture of a premiers' conference called for the purpose of bringing about an amicable settlement of Germany's reparation obligations, with the final advice of the British delegates that "France would proceed without the assistance of England."

The Lausanne conference, heralded as a meeting to bring about the peace of the Near East nations and settle the differences arising over the Turkish rise to power, brought no relief to the situation but on the other hand left the Turk demanding many more annexations than the conference could refuse. They wanted the Mosul oil rights and complete isolation in their affairs and the Lausanne conference gave them a chance to make known to the world their intentions.

The governing rule of the allied conferences of the past seems to be that there is lots of talk and little action.

It is all right to talk about giving every man a job, but what is to be done with the fellow who does not want one? This class is altogether too numerous but no adequate remedy appears to be available. Even in wartime when workers were in demand at wages unheard of before, we had loafers on the street who refused to strike a lick and the same is true of all other places. In times of unemployment this class works on the sympathy of individuals and charitable organizations pretending to be anxious for work but in reality trying to get some undeserved charity. There will be no time in the near future when every man will have a job. Some don't want one and others are so sorry that they can't hold one when they get it. The deserving individual who only asks of the world a chance to make an honest living is entitled to the best to be had, but the loafer who is trying to keep out of work is a problem not easily solved.

When Ada's convention hall is completed and this becomes a city of gatherings and conventions, the citizens will have an opportunity to observe just how useful the Boy Scouts are. These boys have done good service at such gatherings as have been held here and will do still more in the future. It has become the custom in the cities to rely on the boys to help look after visitors when a convention is in progress and they do their work well. A scout's uniform means polite attention and an eagerness to serve.

The Farm and Ranch suggests that a law should be enacted making poultry stealing a felony. Not a bad idea. It is indeed discouraging to a farmer to raise a flock of fine chickens or turkeys only to have some sneak thief carry them off. This form of depredation is altogether too common everywhere and a few severe lessons would mend matters to some extent.

It is reported that a number of New England cotton mill owners are preparing to either move their mills to the South or else build new factors in the cotton region. Naturally it is the sensible thing to manufacture the cotton where it is produced and avoid a lot of freight charges. It will be well for Ada to keep an eye on this movement and see what can be done in the way of locating one of these mills here.

Perhaps we all admire a man with the courage of his convictions who has the nerve to scrap for them against heavy odds, but our admiration is considerably greater if he happens to be scrapping on our own side of the question.

The supreme court of Texas has held that even when a man is hanged life insurance companies must pay policies on his life. However, it is so seldom that a man is hanged in the United States that it will not be necessary to raise the rates in order to meet this risk.

Being mistaken for Grover Bergdoll, the draft evader who is believed to have returned to the United States, brought Congressman Herrick back on the front pages of the newspapers for a day. They just can't keep this Oklahoma congressman out of the spotlight.

Let a NEWS WANT AD get it for you.

A FINANCIAL MYSTERY

Farm Life
"Where," asks our own Abe Martin, "wuz all th' money when we didn't have autos?" It is an ingenious question, one that suggests but does not solve the great financial riddle of the day. The man with the long lead pencil has not trouble whatever in figuring out that the present motor car situation is impossible. He can prove that the nation can't afford to own the ten or twelve million cars now in operation. He can show that the farm income is not sufficient to buy gasoline for the millions of autos the farmers own. Yet both country and city continue cheerfully to defy the man with the long lead pencil. After he absolutely demonstrates that the point of saturation has been reached, they go out and buy a million and a half new cars in a single season. When he shows that the wheat crop will not furnish enough money to provide tire, the farmers just laugh, and swap in their "drivers for regular" automobiles. Where does all the money come from? You tell us, if you can. It would seem, indeed, that we may have to revise our views about money. We may have to acknowledge that mankind's purchasing power is not limited by the quantity of money, but that the limiting factor is the quantity of desired commodities that can be manufactured and that money may always be found in sufficient quantities to buy the things man is able to produce for his own comfort and entertainment.

OUR EMIGRATION PROBLEM

Tulsa Tribune
In spite of the removal of immigration fees ranging from $50 for children to $250 for adults, immigration into Canada between April and October declined 27 percent. Judging by these statistics, other causes than restrictive laws on this side of the water are holding back immigration.

It is interesting to note in connection with the Canadian report that during the period mentioned 16,781 immigrants, or almost half the Canadian inflow, came from the United States. This in its turn may help to explain a labor shortage in this country generally laid to a shortage of immigration. There has been a good deal of emigration to various countries.

The whole immigration situation is a puzzle. Who are these folks who are leaving the United States for Canada at the rate of nearly 7,000 in six months? Are they native born or aliens, good stock or poor? Would we rather hold them or get a strange new crop from overseas? Manifestly in studying immigration and labor we must not overlook the fact that we have an emigration problem which bears on the situation.

MODERATE PROSPERITY

Durant News
The scarcity of labor is growing acute. There is said to be a job for good pay in many farming districts as well as in the cities for everyone who wants to work. Yet there is no "boom" such as has been associated ordinarily with full employment. There are no signs of wild speculation and inflation such as mark periods of superabundant prosperity. There is prosperity, but it is of a moderate comfortable sort—nothing to get excited about.

The simple fact is that, with the virtual stoppage of immigration, all of the hands in this country are required to do the country's normal business. No longer is there a surplus of manpower to furnish a big fringe of unemployment in normal times and an industrial reserve for abnormally busy times.

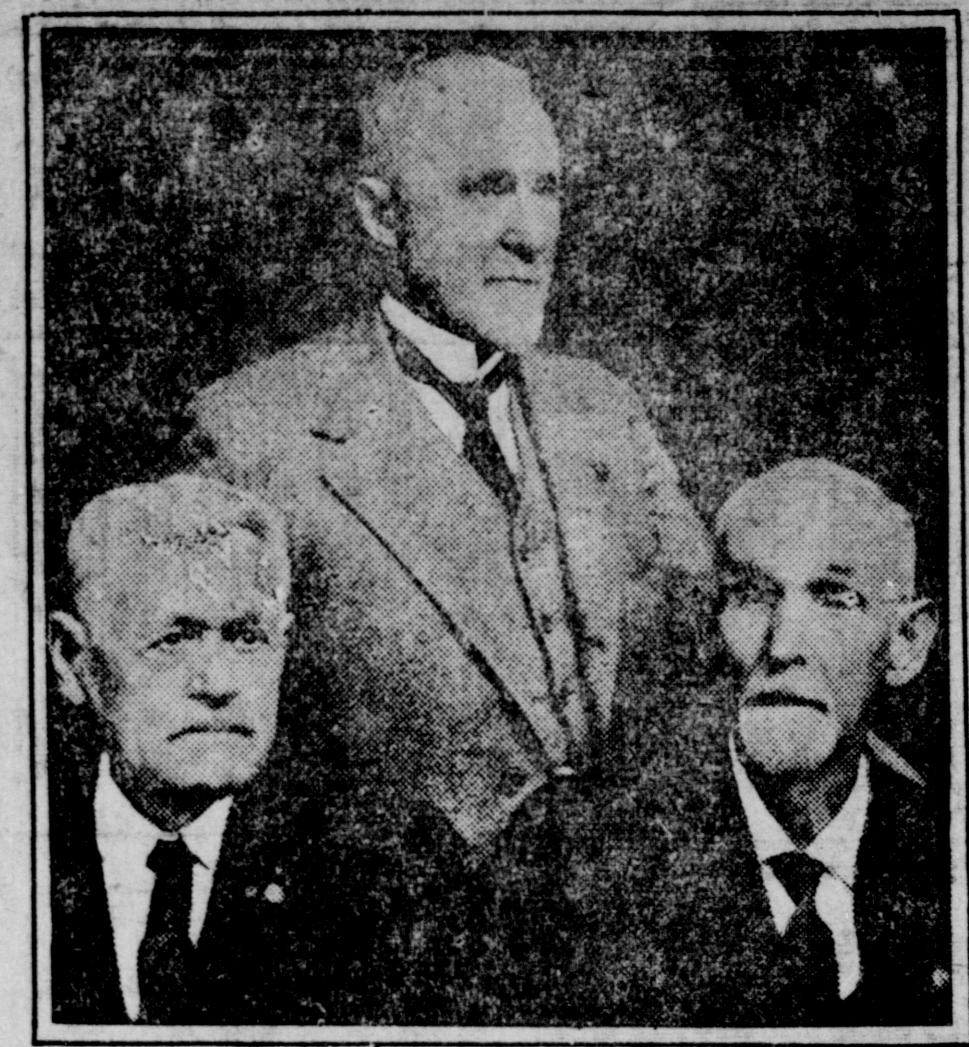

This means prosperity for labor, without doubt. When labor is fully employed, it is sure to get good wages. When there is competition for it, wages go up.

It can hardly mean so much prosperity, relatively speaking, for capital, which in such circumstances has to pay labor's price. Capital can raise its own price in turn, but there are limits. It is doubtful whether boom profits can be made without either a ravenous demand for goods or a liberal supply of cheap foreign labor.

Most Americans, however, agree that moderate prosperity, assured and steady, is better than frenzied booms, and that the Americanization of our population is worth paying a good deal for.

A woman in Boston went crazy when her new hat arrived. It is usually the husband who does this.

LAST WEEK TIME TO BEGIN WINTER PLOWING

(By the Associated Press)

OKLAHOMA CITY, Jan. 5.—The week ended yesterday was favorable for outdoor work in Oklahoma and good progress was made in winter plowing, according to the weekly crop and weather summary issued here by the United States weather bureau.

Soil moisture was described as good, and wheat was said to have made satisfactory progress. The crop was declared in good to excellent condition in the eastern part of the state. It needs rain in the western half, but is in fair to good condition generally, except in the drought-stricken areas in the extreme southwest and northwest parts of the state, the report said.

Native pastures were said to be short and poor, but stock is in generally fair to good condition. Dirt roads were declared fair to good.

The temperature during the week averaged four to eight degrees above normal, with skies clear most of the time, according to the report. Light rain fell in the eastern part of the state, but there was no precipitation of consequence in the central or western parts, it was declared.

Appellate Court Affirms Sentence of Alleged Thief

OKLAHOMA CITY, Jan. 5.—The conviction in September, 1920, of Cecil Ward of Okmulgee county of the theft of an automobile, and his five-year sentence to the penitentiary, has been affirmed by the state criminal court of appeals.

The opinion in a review of the case, state that Ward was accused with two other men of having stolen a $2,000 motor car the property of E. M. Rucker of Beggs, Okla., and having hidden it in a clump of brush near his uncle's farm, where it was found. Ben

Walker, jointly accused with Ward turned state's evidence, it was noted, while Ben Jacobs, the third man was found to be on leave from the state penitentiary where he had been sent for the theft of a motor car near Muskogee.

Reg Your Pardon
Judge U. G. Winn, attorney for Somer Jones in the trouble the fire chief had with Mayor Fisher, has called the attention of the News to the error in using in the headlines in a story of the affair in Thursday's paper the word "reinstatement."
The judge says that inasmuch as Mr. Jones was never out of the office, he could not have been reinstated.

Judge Winn also used his best efforts to get the matter settled for the best interest of the city.

The News is glad to make these corrections.

NEW BUSINESS HOUSE TO OPEN SATURDAY

Beginning Saturday morning Ada's business fraternity will have a new membership. The Fashion, a new store being opened at the place formerly occupied by the Lancaster Cafe on West Main, will be ready to receive customers Saturday, according to an announcement from the management today.

Mrs. C. D. Price and James Burdick are the proprietors of the new firm. They are well known here and need no introduction to the people of the city. Ladies ready-to-wear and shoes will be carried in stock and millinery will be added at a later date.

A large portion of the stock had already been received and will be open to examination tomorrow. It will all be new and of the best that can be purchased, the management asserts.

"We are going to have the most up-to-date shop in town," Mrs. Price said. "We are making extensive preparations for a business that will stand the test of time and are going to make it different from anything else Ada has ever had."

The fixtures were being completed today but it probably will be a week before the entire stock is received and all matters of arranging the fixtures and decorations are completed.

NUXATED IRON A DRIVING FORCE

BEHIND KEEN SUCCESSFUL
MEN AND WOMEN

When you think of the successful men and women you know—people who are doing things worth while—you will find that they possess force, vim and energy—the kind that simply brim over when the blood is filled with iron. Nuxated Iron by enriching the blood and creating new red blood cells, strengthens the nerves, rebuilds the weakened tissues and helps to instill renewed force and energy into the whole system. Four million people use it annually as a tonic, strength and blood-builder.

MAKE THIS TEST

See how long you can work or how far you can walk without becoming tired; next take two five-grain tablets of Nuxated Iron three times per day after meals for two weeks. Then test you: strength again and see how much you have gained. Numbers of nervous, run-down people who were ailing all the while have most astonishingly increased their strength and endurance simply by taking iron in the proper form.

OIL SUIT DENIED SECOND HEARING BY HIGH COURTS

(By the Associated Press)
OKLAHOMA CITY, Jan. 5.—An oil suit involving many thousands of dollars which was decided by the state supreme court last April had an echo in the same court this week when a rehearing of the case was denied.

The suit was originally brought by E. M. Clark, against the Slick Oil Company, over royalties on production which, in May, 1915, it was alleged, amounted to more than 20,000 barrels a day. Clark alleged that the company had refused to recognize his title to the royalties which, he charged, had been sold by the Slick company to the Oklahoma Oil company. He claimed the directorates of the two companies were interlocking.

In a lower court the case was first decided against Clark, according to the latest opinion. But a decision of the supreme court, April 25, 1922, reversed the finding. The case was closed this week when the high court granted Clark's motion that the oil company's request for a hearing be denied.

One of our big ships landed with a list the other day but the list was not a wine list.

Thin? Run-down? Sure Way to Get Right Weight

Increase Your Red-Blood-Cells. That's the Sure Way! S. S. S. Builds Blood-Cells; This Means Strength!

Do you know why insurance companies refuse to insure a great many men because they are under weight? Simply because to be under weight often proves low fighting-power in the body. It often means you are minus nerve-power, minus red-cells in your blood, minus health, minus energy, minus vitality. It is serious to be minus, but the moment you increase the number of your red-blood-cells, you begin to become plus. That's why S. S. S., since 1822, has meant to thousands of underweight men and women, a plus in their strength. Hollow cheeks fill out. You stop being a canny-looking, applier, and you feel it, too, all over your body. More red-blood-cells! S. S. S. will build them. Ladies and gentlemen, a neater, bony face doesn't make you look very important or pretty, does it? Take S. S. S. It contains only pure vegetable medicinal ingredients. S. S. S. is sold at all drug stores in two sizes. The larger size bottle is the more economical.

Main street has been condemned. Several of the town's fairer sex openly condemned the lurid description of Humphry Smith's style of dancing, saying that Humphy knew more about dancing than the farmer does about corn.

Some of the fairer sex openly declares that Humphy correctly portrays the rhythmic features of the dance and does so in a way that his partner will not fall asleep during one merry whirl at least, as they indicate would happen if they followed out the creeds of the old timers.

One girl stoutly maintained that she knew that Humphy would not throw her out the window, "because he promised that he would be gentle."

Just to show that the Ada News has a commanding power, even in the state legislature, an editorial opposing the boost in salary had barely dried from the editors pen when up steps Disney and knocks it in the head.

COLLEGE NOTES

Several group pictures to go in this year's college annual were taken at the college this morning. Pictures were made of the freshmen, sophomore and junior preparatory classes, the Forum literary society and the Redhead club, the last composed of all the students and members of the faculty who have that distinguishing characteristic. The staff of the Pesagi has a large amount of material to send to the engravers during the coming week, and plans to have all the work done as soon as possible.

LAWS NEEDED TO PRESERVE SIGHT

Harris Urges Legislation to Prevent Blindness from Unsanitary Causes.

(By the Associated Press)

NEW YORK, Jan. 5.—The need for more modern legislation dealing with the prevention of blindness and the conservation of vision, and for a greater number of state and local organizations devoted to these causes is emphasized in the annual report of Lewis H. Harris, field secretary of the National Committee for the Prevention of Blindness, made public today at the headquarters of the committee in this city.

Mr. Harris' findings are based on a survey of the blindness situation in the eastern half of the United States conducted during the past year. Special attention was given to conditions in Indiana, Illinois, Kansas, Michigan, Minnesota, Oklahoma, Alabama and New York, in which states the National Committee co-operated with local agencies in conducting educational campaigns.

"The most effective work for the prevention of blindness and for the conservation of vision," Mr. Harris reports, "can be accomplished through the aggressive work of state and local organizations. There should be a volunteer organization for the prevention of blindness in every state and territory, and such organizations should be closely affiliated with the National Committee. A survey of the field shows that California, Kentucky, Illinois and New York are at present the only states having volunteer organizations for the prevention of blindness, though a number of other states have associations for the blind doing some preventive work."

Declaring "it is apparent that a very considerable part of the activities for the prevention of blindness must ultimately become governmental, and in consequence there must be basic state legislation providing for such action," the report of the National Committee calls attention to the need for the following types of laws: In the field of indirect preventive legislation, school medical inspection laws, laws providing for the establishment of conservation of vision classes, factory laws providing for the safeguarding of vision, laws governing the sale of wood alcohol and laws governing the practice of midwives.

In the field of direct preventive legislation, laws for the prevention of babies' eye disease commonly called ophthalmia neonatorum; laws providing for the control and elimination of trachoma and other contagious eye diseases and other providing for the establishment of state commissions with authority and appropriations for work in the field of prevention, such authority usually being given to a state commission for the blind.

Farmers' Column

J. M. Atkinson presented the News with two sample jars of the product of the Ada pickle factory. The first was a sweet pickle made from the small cucumbers, and the other gherkin pickle made from the larger cucumbers, by way of experiment. The entire News force as well as several visitors who sampled the jars, will bear testimony to the excellent quality of the pickles. After everyone should insist on Ada pickles, for they are not only unbeatable, but they were raised and put up right here at home. We are for the home man everytime. If this enterprise is given the support that the quality of its product merits, it will give quite an impetus to vegetable growing in this county by providing a steady market. Mr. Atkinson will add other things to his list as rapidly as conditions warrant.

Farmers who raised peanuts this year have done fairly well, according to reports I have heard. The drought cut the crop to a considerable extent, but in spite of that the returns were enough to prove that this crop can be grown at a profit. During the past season some trouble was experienced in getting the crop thrashed, but with one new machine at Center and another near Francis, this will not occur next year. It is highly probable that the acreage devoted to peanuts will be considerably increased during the coming year.

The arrival of seed catalogues reminds us that gardening time is not far distant. It is very well to begin planning out a garden, one that will furnish the most food for the family and also things that all like. During the past year more attention than usual was given to gardening, since the boll weevil made the family income very uncertain, and a large amount of stuff was canned for winter by the busy housewives. There is no arguing the question of the importance of raising something to eat above all else.

Spraying Fruit Trees.

"The wanton destruction of birds in this country is costing us about $1,000,000,000 a year," according to Robert R. Gilliam, City Forester for the City of Dallas. We have killed our birds, the natural enemies of destructive insects, and now we have to kill the insects with poisons. We are not doing nearly as good a job of it as did the birds who worked free of all cost to us.

"Although Texas has the soil and the climate to make it one of the leading fruit growing states in the union, we are ranking pretty low in respect to quality and dropping lower in quantity every year. I make bold to state that in my opinion many of our failures can be charged directly to nurserymen who have not been as careful as they should have been in propagating their trees or in keeping them free from disease. I have known nurserymen go to canning factories and sack the seed and take them home for planting to secure stock to bud. I believe that trees should have a family history. The nursery stock should come from seed taken from trees that have proved their value or have the quality of hardiness, and that buds should be taken from trees known to be good producers of quality fruit. A breeder of livestock would not use a scrub sire. Why should breeders of fruit trees?

"If all the trees planted in Texas had been of the right kind, we probably would have more good orchardists today because the owners would have become interested enough to keep their orchards well cultivated and their trees properly pruned and sprayed. Others, no doubt, would have let their orchards become diseased and they would have died through neglect whether or not they had good trees to start with."

"The subject of spraying should be given more attention in Texas both by city dwellers, who have a few trees, and the man with the home orchard on the farm. Dormant sprays should be used in December or January. This should be made of twelve pounds of powdered lime-sulphur to fifty gallons of water, or in proportion for small or larger amounts. It should be applied with force and every portion of the tree covered. If leaf curl has formerly appeared, or if one desires to take precaution against leaf curl, a spray of the same character should be used about two weeks before the buds begin to swell. In summer, if one wants to have healthy trees and also fine fruit, the trees should be sprayed with a solution of arsenate of lead just as the blossoms begin to fall with a follow spraying ten days later and again just before the fruit begins to ripen. This will prevent wormy fruit and also the brown heart which appears so frequently in Texas. I suggest two pounds of arsenate of lead to fifty gallons of water. Some use self-boiled lime sulphur with the arsenate of lead. As rock lime is hard to get, eight pounds of hydrated lime is used. This is slacked and the sulphur added. This combination keeps down scab and keeps worms out of the tree.

"For a few trees an inexpensive pump sprayer can be used, and the saving of the fruit on one tree will more than pay for it. If a power sprayer is needed, then spray rings should be organized whereby several orchard owners combine to purchase the machine and the chemicals.

"If our farmers and others who have fruit and nut trees could realize the value of proper spraying it would be a long step towards decreasing the cost of living and promoting health in Texas."—Farm and Ranch.

TREATISE ON COTTON GROWING AND BOLL WEEVIL CONTROL

By Hardy Dial, Cotton Grower and Boll Weevil Expert.

Do Not Become Lax.

I urge you to not become lax in your cultivation, do not flag in use of the brush and drag, until as I said before you are knocking out too much cotton. The brush should not be so heavy, and stiff, that it will break the limbs or knock off healthy squares, or bolls; persimmon, or willow, or any soft leaved brush, should be used for this.

Natural Enemy of Weevil.

Now that I have given you the best method that I know of in combatting with the boll weevil, also told how to prepare and cultivate for best results, I now want to tell you about the natural enemy of the boll weevil, which has in some badly infested localities put the weevil out of business for a few years at a time, or until this enemy (a parasite) would become extinct, until a new crop of weevil should be brought up again, usually by the slip shod methods employed by the farmers, in growing their crops. Some places in Texas and Louisiana too, I think have experienced a scourge of weevil for several years at a time, when suddenly they would disappear, only to return again in a few years, or when this parasite, which in turn was starved out, by lack of weevil on which to feed. Why the authorities on cotton growing and boll weevil control, have been so slow to acknowledge his presence or so loath to give recognition to the effectiveness of his work, is something I cannot understand. I fully believe this parasite will and would have held his own, with the boll weevil, had the farmer done his duty by clean and thorough methods of farming.

My first knowledge of the existence of this parasite was obtained in the year 1916, while I was manager of "The Allendale Plantation" in Louisiana near Shreveport. I had a dozen jars of boll weevil under observation when I noticed that the weevil in one began to sicken and die. I discovered this parasite at work, as he would attack the weevil and lay his egg, at the juncture of the weevil's wing with his body. When this egg would hatch, the tiny worm so small it was difficult to see would bore into the weevil's body, and feed upon his vitals, and the weevil would soon die. I kept this jar containing the parasites, replenished with weevils taken from the other jars, until squares formed on the new crop in 1917.

Proves Parasite's Mission.

I have proven beyond a doubt that this parasite's mission on earth was to kill boll weevil, for every adult weevil I placed in that jar had surely entered the death chamber, and died in from 8 to 10 days after being placed in the jar. In the spring I placed infested squares in the jar, and found that the parasite would lay its eggs in the puncture made by the boll weevil when it laid its egg, when the parasite egg hatched, the larva would enter the square, and feed upon the larva of the weevil. The adult parasite (which is a tiny gnat or fly) lays its egg on the adult weevil, as described above, or on the puncture of the infested square and the larva will enter the square and feed upon the weevil larva. Just why entomologists have never seen fit to tell you about this weevil enemy, is a mystery to me, and I leave it for you to solve. When you find this parasite at work in fields, stop plowing or dragging at once, but keep up the brushing off the infested squares. The same cultivation that will kill the weevil will kill the parasite, but if you keep on brushing I think the embryo parasite will kill the embryo weevil. I think there will be enough sustenance left in the fallen squares to make sufficient growth of the weevil larva, to mature the parasite.

you? Then don't kill with calcium arsenate, the parasite that will rid your fields of the boll weevil.
